FACULTY

Olivet College has a remarkable teaching force for an institution of its kind. There are this year twenty-nine teachers, all of whom have been selected because of their rare qualifications, specific training, Christian character, and teaching ability. Both men and women are employed in the faculty in the ratio of about two men to one woman. The intellectual and professional training may be seen from the fact that a very large percentage of the teachers hold the degree of doctor of philosophy from the best institutions in this country and Europe, and that degree has been the minimum qualification necessary for appointment in the faculty since the election of President Lancaster. In addition to scholarship, however, the President insists upon character and teaching ability. That Olivet is not provincial and narrow may be seen from the fact that among its faculty may be found graduates from the following colleges and universities:

COLLEGES.

Amherst	Ursinus
Dartmouth	Smith
Hamilton	Oberlin
Middlebury	Yankton
Olivet	Wellesley
Columbia College of Expression

UNIVERSITIES.

Harvard	DePauw
Yale	Cornell
Clark	Princeton
Northwestern	Ohio
Michigan	Leipzig

EQUIPMENT.

Olivet College is located in Olivet, Eaton county, Michigan, near the line of the Grand Trunk Railway between Lansing and Battle Creek. The campus is situated on a beautiful hill in the midst of a natural oak forest. A large, enclosed athletic field, with a good cinder track, baseball diamond, and football field, and the eight tennis courts in various parts of the college grounds, give adequate opportunity for exercise during the summer season, while a well equipped gymnasium with its facilities for basket-ball, volley-ball, and all kinds of gymnastics, provides indoor exercise for winter. The college owns a tract of farm and garden land in the care of which students so desiring may find employment. The college work is carried on in ten buildings many of which are modern. The library is an elegant and commodious stone building containing 31,000 volumes, most of which have been purchased for the various departments, besides a large collection of pamphlets. The physical and chemical laboratories are well equipped for college work while the biological and geological museums are of unusual excellence. Two of the college literary societies own beautiful buildings of their own, while a third is in process of erection. In all departments the college is supplied with the equipment necessary for high-grade, progressive work.
